The General Society, by Resolution passed at its Triennial meeting on April 19th, 1899, directed the publication and distribution, at the expense of the several State Societies, of the proceedings of that meeting;—a general directory;—a list of the members of the Society who had served in the late war with Spain:—and a sketch of the work accomplished by each State Society since its organization.

The demand has, however, been so great for a revised general directory,—a report of the proceedings of the General Society at its last meeting,—and a list (even though incomplete) of the members of the Society who were in Service during the war with Spain, that the General Secretaries have felt constrained to issue this pamphlet, at the expense of the General Society, in the hope that it may, at least in part, meet the present need and that it may be used as a basis for the preparation of a more elaborate publication when the necessary material shall have been secured.

MEETING OF GENERAL SOCIETY,

APRIL 19TH, 1899.

The Meeting was held in compliance with the following notice:

“GENERAL SOCIETY.
“OFFICE OF THE GENERAL SECRETARY,
“146 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

“Dear Sir:—

March 10th, 1899.

“The regular Triennial Meeting of the General Society will be held at the Brown Palace Hotel, in the City of Denver, Colorado, on Wednesday, April 19th, 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing General Officers, considering applications for admission from State Societies, and for such other business as may be properly brought before it. The Colorado Society will entertain the General Society at dinner on the evening of the same day.

“You are requested to return the enclosed postal cards on or before March 25th, 1899, stating whether you do or do not expect to be present at this meeting.

“Yours very faithfully,

“JAMES MORTIMER MONTGOMERY,
“General Secretary.”

The Society being called to order, Mr. JOHN CROMWELL BUTLER, President of the Society in the State of Colorado, said: “Mr. President and Fellow Members of the General Society: It is my high privilege, and with great pleasure, in the name of the Colorado Society of the Sons of the Revolution, in the name of the City of Denver, and in the name of the great State of Colorado, I bid you welcome, thrice welcome, on this most auspicious occasion. We of the State of gold and silver, we of the City renowned throughout the land for its health-giving atmosphere and its grand surroundings, are proud of the honor conferred upon our Society, our City, and our State by the selection of Denver for your triennial assemblage. We of the West are few in numbers, but our patriotism is as deep, our love of our glorious Nation as profound, as are the patriotism and love of country of you who come from the very cradle of liberty itself, from Massachusetts and New York, and Pennsylvania and Virginia, and the other glorious members of the original Thirteen. We are proud of the honor of welcoming so many worthy sons of worthy sires, men whose names will live in history as long as history shall be written. Once more, as wide we open our gates, I bid you welcome in the name of the Colorado Society, the City, and the State."

The General President, JOHN LEE CARROLL, responded as follows: "Mr. President of the Colorado Society, on the part of the General Society of the Sons of the Revolution, I beg to tender you in Colorado our sincere and most heartfelt thanks for the kind and cordial terms in which you have greeted this fraternity. We well know your hospitality; we well know your enterprise, and I take the liberty of saying, before we leave this town, we will have something more to say, more pointed perhaps, as to the industry, the enterprise, and the vigor of the members of the Colorado Society. As we have but this day to perform our business, I think that you will agree with me that we had better proceed now with the business of the session."

The Meeting was opened with prayer by the Reverend WALTER DELA-FIELD, D. D., of the Illinois Society: "Most gracious God, we humbly beseech Thee, as for the people of these United States in general, so especially for this convention, this triennial convention of the Sons of the Revolution here assembled, that Thou wouldst be pleased to direct and prosper all their consultations to the advancement of Thy glory, the safety, honor and welfare of Thy people, that all things may be so ordered and settled by their endeavors upon the best and surest foundations; that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us for all generations. And, oh God, whose name is excellent in all the earth, and Thy glory above the heavens, who didst inspire and direct the hearts of our delegates in Congress to lay the perpetual foundations of peace, liberty and safety, we bless and adore Thy glorious majesty for this Thy loving kindness and providence, and we humbly pray that the devout sense of the signal mercy may renew and increase in us a spirit of love and thankfulness to Thee, its only Author, a spirit of peaceable submission to the laws and government of our country, and a spirit of fervent zeal for the religion which Thou hast preserved and secured to us and our posterity. May we improve these inestimable blessings for the advancement of religion, liberty and science throughout this land, until the wilderness and solitary places be glad through us, and the desert rejoice and blossom as the rose. Oh, eternal God, who alone spreadest out the heavens and rulest the raging of the sea, who hast compassed the waters with bands until day and night come to an end, be pleased to receive into Thy almighty and most gracious protection the fleets and armies of our country, wheresoever they may be called to serve; preserve them from the dangers of the sea, and from the violence of the enemy, that they may be a safeguard to the honor and welfare of the United States of America, and set forward truth and justice on the earth, that the inhabitants thereof may in peace and quietness serve Thee, our God, with a thankful remembrance of Thy mercies.

“Oh, Almighty God and Sovereign, we implore Thy blessing upon our brethren who, in the service of our country, go forth against the enemy. Give them faith, courage and endurance, patience, gentleness and obedience. Preserve them in the midst of the temptations of the camp and of the field, and the perils of the ocean and of the land; from the pestilence that walketh in darkness, and from the sickness that destroyeth in the noonday. Keep them under the shadow of Thy wing, and restore them in safety to us, and to such as may fall in battle or by sickness, of our brethren or our enemies, do Thou, O Lord, graciously grant the preparation of repentance unto life eternal, through the infinite love and merits of the Savior of all men, Thy Son, Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.”

The roll of officers and delegates was called, the following answering to their names:

Dr. PERSIFOR MARSDEN COOKE, of the Colorado Society: I have credentials from the District of Columbia. These credentials have heretofore not been allowed, but I thought better for me to bring it up myself before you. I at one time was a member from the District of Columbia, but I am not now.

THE CHAIR: Under the ruling of this Society, the chair begs to say, under the former ruling of this Society, it has been established that a gentleman who is not a member of a state society, cannot represent that state society in the General convention by proxy. Of course, it has been the ruling of other meetings. Each meeting will decide for itself, and that ruling will stand until it has been reversed by the action of the General Society. Therefore, we would say that the credentials as presented by the gentleman from the Colorado Society, under the rule, are not accepted from the District of Columbia.

Upon motion of Mr. Charles Henry Jones, of the Pennsylvania Society, seconded by Mr. John Cromwell Butler, of the Colorado Society and Colonel Josiah Granville Leach, of the Pennsylvania Society, it was resolved that the Minutes of the General Society of date April 19th, and October 12th, 1897, be taken as read.

The General Secretary submitted the following Report.

“The last regular report of the General Society was submitted at the Triennial Meeting of the General Society held April 20th, 1896, at Savannah, Georgia.

“There are now thirty-one State Societies, those in North Dakota and Indiana having been organized and admitted since the last Triennial Meeting.

“JAMES MORTIMER MONTGOMERY,

“Chairman Certificate Committee.”

Upon request of the General Treasurer, an Auditing Committee was appointed, consisting of Mr. Jesse Claiborne Tarkington, of the Indiana Society, Mr. R. Henry W. Dwight, of the Massachusetts Society, and Mr. Theodore Wells Barhydt, of the Iowa Society.

No Report was received from the General Registrar.

The General Historian's Report was read as follows, and on motion of Mr. Robert Olyphant, of the New York Society, received and placed on file:

"The main purpose for which our society was instituted is stated in the general constitution to be 'to perpetuate the memory of the men who, in the military, naval and civil service of the Colonies and of the Continental Congress, by their acts and counsel, achieved the independence of the Country.' To accomplish this, it is obvious that the great essential is the preservation and publication, for the benefit of mankind, of the record of those deeds. They are writ in water, and their inspiring influence passes like a breath, unless they are recorded and mankind may read the record. To unearth these records, and give them permanent influence upon American life, should be one of the great functions of our society. It is, however, one which we have thus far sadly neglected. I will speak first of the indirect influence which the society should exert.

"Several of the States of the Union have of late years performed commendable work in printing a portion of the revolutionary papers in their archives, but no state has as yet completed this labor, and many have not undertaken it at all. Especially is this true of the Southern States, where the revolutionary archives are, generally speaking, not even so arranged as to be accessible for purposes of reference. A wide field of usefulness is thus open to our state societies, by inducing the State governments to systematically take up this work. It cannot be successfully prosecuted otherwise than by State governments. It requires legislative appropriation, and surely there would seem to be no more legitimate way of expending the people's money than in thus making accessible to all men the records of the founding of the government.

"To the Society as a general organization should fall the duty of inducing the Congress of the United States to publish the revolutionary papers which are in the hands of the General Government. Notable progress has been made in recent years in their better arrangement and classification, and a few of them have been calendared and indexed, but many of them are still practically inaccessible, and almost none of them have been printed. The Government has expended vast sums of money in collecting and printing the records of the War of the Rebellion, and has wholly neglected to provide for the printing of the records of the War of the Revolution. Numerous plans have been elaborated by specialists for the proper mode of publication. These are unimportant in the absence of a concerted effort to secure congressional action. Whether or not all the papers should be gathered together under one management, and in what department that management should rest, are matters of dispute, and should be entirely subordinated to a general endeavor to securing action favorable to their publication, upon the desirability of which there can be no dispute. To hold the Congress of the United States wholly responsible for neglecting this important subject is hardly just. At every session of that body hundreds of measures press for consideration, and, in the nature of things, only those measures are taken up in which a widespread, active interest is shown. A member of Congress acts for his constituents, and he is not slow to respond to their desires, if they are manifested to him. It can hardly be doubted that, if all the members of the Societies of the Revolution, and those who have an equal interest in the subject, persistently and by concerted action demand the printing of the Government's revolutionary papers by Congress, appropriate legislation will follow.

“The Society has, however, a duty to perform to history within itself, which it has thus far hardly touched upon. Apart from the National and State Archives of the Revolution, the mass of material relating to that struggle, which is in the hands of private individuals, is large, and very little of it has ever seen the light of print. It consists of diaries, letters and similar papers, written by the men of the Revolution, and now owned by their descendants. Scattered among thousands of individuals, many of whom are not able to judge of their historical importance, these papers, as long as they are in a suppressed condition, are valueless to the cause of history. Gathered together and published, they become of inestimable usefulness. In 1892, under authority of the District of Columbia Society, a volume of revolutionary papers, collected almost wholly from members of that society, was printed under the title of ‘Fragments of Revolutionary History.’ It received a very flattering welcome, not only from special students of history, but from the general public, but the example it set has not been followed by other State societies. It is, however, doubtful whether they could generally prosecute this work. Their pecuniary resources are hardly more than sufficient to pay for their ordinary yearly expenses. Even if they were able to undertake such publications as I have indicated, their value would be marred by a lack of uniformity in the editing and arrangement. A far safer plan would be to intrust the publication to the General Society, the collection of the material being made through the local societies. The General Society could easily publish a volume a year. It would form an enduring monument to the usefulness of the Society. It may be objected that this field is already occupied by the American Historical Society and State Historical Societies, but whatever the possibilities of those societies may be in this direction, it must be remembered that their efforts are not specially directed to the Revolution, the period to which our activity should be scrupulously limited.

“GAILLARD HUNT, Historian.”

No reports were received from the Committee on Monument to Paul Jones, nor from that upon the Publication of Revolutionary Archives.

Mr. James Mortimer Montgomery, Chairman of the Committee on Publication and Distribution of the Farewell Address, reported that the direction of the General Society at its meeting held in Savannah April 20th, 1896, that the Farewell Address be printed and distributed to every member of the Society had been carried out shortly after said meeting.

Reports were received from the Societies in the several States upon the resolution adopted at the Special Meeting of the Society held at Cincinnati upon October 12th, 1897, sent to the several Societies by the direction of that meeting, and proposing for their action a form of resolution therewith set out. The reports were as follows: By seventeen (17) State Societies the proposed Constitution was rejected; by six (6) it was approved; by one (1) action was postponed; by two (2) no action was had, and from five (5) no report was received.

Reports were also received from the following State Societies, many of them incorporating or being accompanied by lists of the members of the respective Societies who had served in the Army or the Navy of the United States during the late war with Spain: California, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Virginia.

Upon motion of Colonel Josiah Granville Leach, of the Pennsylvania Society, seconded by Mr. John Cromwell Butler, of the Colorado Society, it was directed that the reports of the State Societies, with such as should be received later, and lists of members who had served in the late war with Spain, be arranged by the General Secretaries and printed for distribution among the members of the State Societies.

A Committee on Nominations for offices in the General Society to be filled at this meeting was appointed by the Chair, viz: Mr. Robert Olyphant, of the New York Society, Chairman; Mr. John Cromwell Butler, of the Colorado Society; Mr. John Richardson Hall, of the California Society; Mr.

Thomas J. Yorke, of the New Jersey Society ; and Mr. Frederick Prime Garrettson, of the Rhode Island Society.

DR. GEORGE JAMES HOLMES, of the Connecticut Society : " I have before me a communication from the State Society of Connecticut, and if you will pardon me, I will read a short report on the subject of landmarks. A committee has been continued for about three years on the subject of land marks in Connecticut, and we have marked and commemorated a great many graves already. We found we had nothing to mark the graves of Revolutionary soldiers, and in speaking of that subject we desire to be in line with all the United States, and have something universal. A design was presented, among others, after much correspondence with members, and this design was approved by the Society, and it was asked that it be submitted here, taking its course with others. With your permission, I will read a short sketch :

"As a continuation of the Report of your committee on the preservation of landmarks, I would say that I have investigated the signs and symbols used by other societies to commemorate the graves of ancestors, and also have had some correspondence with prominent members of the Sons of the Revolution, and find that a general desire exists for the adoption by this Society of a universal symbol for a grave-marker, to be used to designate the graves of our Revolutionary ancestors, and also one which may be used with a slight addition of dates, etc., to mark the graves of our own members.

"It is very desirable at this time to adopt a symbol which shall inform the observer at a glance that this sign marks the grave of a Revolutionary soldier, and was placed there by the Society of the Sons of the Revolution.

"In studying the insignia of our Society, I found that there was a part of one symbol which is already well known, generally accepted, and quite extensively used in various ways. The part of the symbol to which I refer is prescribed by Article X of our Constitution, and the description of one side of the badge is as follows :

"'The Badge shall be elliptical in form, with escalloped edges, one and one-quarter inches in length, and one and one-eighth inches in width ; the whole surmounted by a gold eagle, with wings displayed inverted. On the obverse side a medallion of gold in the center elliptical in form, bearing on its face the figure of a soldier in Continental uniform with musket slung. Beneath the figures 1775 ; the medallion surrounded by thirteen raised gold stars of five points each, upon a border of dark blue enamel.'

“This part of our insignia, known as the obverse side of our badge, has already earned its own recognition, and has a favorite place on the stationery of many of the officers and members of our Society.

“Your Committee believe that this symbol could be adopted for use in the field, to commemorate the last resting places of our Revolutionary sires. As a first step in the development, an enlarged photograph was made of the side of the badge mentioned, and the letters S and R prominently added on either side of the eagle with displayed wings; and a half wreath of laurel drawn round the base completed the symmetrical proportions.

“I herewith submit the design, drawn in black and white, as far as developed at this time, for your inspection and criticism.”

On motion, the report was accepted and ordered filed.

MR. WILLIAM T. ANDREWS offered the following :

“Resolved, That the Society of the Sons of the Revolution in the State of Connecticut requests its delegates to the National Society to present to the said Society the design of a grave-marker submitted by Dr. George J. Holmes, of the Committee on Landmarks, and to urge upon the National Society that the said design be adopted by the National Society as the Symbol for Grave-markers for the Sons of the Revolution in the United States.” Adopted.

Upon motion of Dr. Holmes, seconded by Colonel Josiah Granville Leach, it was resolved that a Committee of three be appointed by the Chair to consider and examine all designs which may be presented for a universal grave-marker; and resolved further, that this Committee be requested to report before our adjournment as to what symbol it would recommend, so that action may be taken at this meeting. The Chair appointed as such Committee Dr. George James Holmes, of the Connecticut Society, Chairman; Mr. Jesse Claiborne Tarkington, of the Indiana Society, Mr. Ralph Voorhees, of the Colorado Society. The Committee subsequently reported that it unanimously recommended the adoption by this Society of the symbol presented for a universal grave-marker in the United States, with a few suggestions to the effect that the name of the State Society may be added if desired; that the marker should not be less than four by six inches, and be made of iron, metal, marble or granite and adapted as each State sees fit, and recommending the continuance of the Committee, since it was deemed probable that matters would arise which could not be conveniently determined by the General Officers.

It was moved and seconded that the Report be adopted, and the Committee continued, and upon motion it was so determined.

The Committee on Nominations submitted the following Report :

“DENVER, COLORADO, April 19th, 1899.

“TO THE GENERAL SOCIETY, SONS OF THE REVOLUTION.

“Gentlemen :—The Nominating Committee appointed by the meeting on this date has the honor to submit the following nominations, which are suggested after full consideration, namely :

“For General President, the Honorable JOHN LEE CARROLL, of the Maryland Society ;

“For General Vice-President, GARRET DORSET WALL VROOM, of the New Jersey Society ;

“For Second General Vice-President, Hon. POPE BARROW, of the Georgia Society ;

“For General Secretary, JAMES MORTIMER MONTGOMERY, of the New York Society ;

“For Assistant General Secretary, WILLIAM HALL HARRIS, of the Maryland Society ;

“For General Treasurer, RICHARD MCCALL CADWALADER, of the Pennsylvania Society ;

“For Assistant General Treasurer, HENRY CADLE, of the Missouri Society ;

“For General Chaplain, Right Reverend HENRY BENJAMIN WHIPPLE, D. D., LL. D., of the Minnesota Society ;

“For General Registrar, FRANCIS ELLINGWOOD ABBOT, of the Massachusetts Society ;

“For General Historian, HENRY WALBRIDGE DUDLEY, of the Illinois Society.

“In submitting this report, it will be observed that changes are made in the nominations for the General Offices of Second General Vice-President and General Historian.

“Colonel Screven, the Second General Vice-President, has advised the Society that he finds it impossible longer to hold that office, by reason of circumstances which frequently prevent his attendance to its duties and the meetings of the General Society, and your committee has accordingly placed in nomination the name of the Hon. Pope Barrow, of Georgia, a man of high reputation and prominence in his native state, who has held many public offices of trust, and at one time the presidency of the Georgia

State Society, and who has represented his State in the Senate of the United States.

“Your Committee has also been advised by Mr. Gaillard Hunt that it will not be possible for him to continue to serve the Society in the office of General Historian, which he has filled, and they have accordingly placed in nomination the name of Henry Walbridge Dudley, of the Illinois Society, a gentleman eminently qualified to admirably fill that position.

“All of which is respectfully submitted.

ROBERT OLYPHANT, JOHN RICHARDSON HALL, JOHN CROMWELL BUTLER, THOMAS J. YORKE, FREDERICK PRIME GARRETSON,	}	Committee on Nominations.”
--	---	---------------------------------------

The following proceedings were then had :

MR. TALBOT OLYPHANT, of the South Carolina Society: I move that the report be adopted.

THE CHAIR: Gentlemen, what disposition will the Society make of that report?

MR. CHARLES HENRY JONES, of the Pennsylvania Society: If there are no other nominations, I suppose other nominations are in order?

THE CHAIR: All nominations are in order.

MR. JONES: If there are no other nominations, I move that the Secretary cast one ballot for the election of these gentlemen whose names have been reported by the Nominating Committee.

THE CHAIR: Gentlemen, you have heard that motion submitted. If there are no other nominations, and there seem to be none, that the Secretary of this Society cast one ballot. All in favor of the adoption of this motion will please say “aye;” those opposed, “no.” (Vote taken.) The “ayes” have it, and the motion is unanimously adopted.

THE GENERAL SECRETARY: The ballot is cast.

THE ASSISTANT GENERAL SECRETARY: The ballot, as cast, results in the election to the office of General President of the Hon. John Lee Carroll, of the Maryland Society; of General Vice-President, Garret Dorset Wall Vroom, of the New Jersey Society; of Second General Vice-President, the Hon. Pope Barrow, of the Georgia Society; of General Secretary, James Mortimer Montgomery, of the New York Society; of Assistant General Secretary, William Hall Harris, of the Maryland Society; of General Treasurer, Richard McCall Cadwalader, of the Pennsylvania Society; of Assistant General Treasurer, Henry Cadle, of the Missouri Society; of General Chaplain, Right Reverend Henry Benjamin Whipple, D. D., LL. D., of the Minnesota Society; of General Registrar, Francis Ellingwood Abbot, of the Massachusetts Society; of General Historian, Henry Walbridge Dudley, of the Illinois Society.

THE CHAIR: Gentlemen, I beg to offer you my sincere and heartfelt thanks for this renewed expression of your confidence. This is the fourth or fifth time that you have honored me with the office of General President of this Society, and all I have to say at this time is that in the future, as in the past, I am sure that my interest will be increased, rather than diminished, in the welfare and prosperity of the Society of Sons of the Revolution.

The Auditing Committee, through its Chairman, submitted the following Report:

“DENVER, COLORADO, April 19th, 1899.

“TO THE GENERAL SOCIETY, SONS OF THE REVOLUTION.

“Gentlemen:—

“Your Committee this day appointed to audit the accounts of the General Treasurer and of the Certificate Committee, have the honor to report that they have carefully examined the books and accounts of the said officer and committee; that they have found them correct in every particular, and all expenditures supported by proper vouchers.

“Following the practice which has long obtained in the General Society, to appropriate out of its funds a sum towards the expenses of each of its meetings, your Committee begs to submit the following resolution:

“1. Resolved, That the sum of three hundred dollars ($300.00) be appropriated and paid out of the funds of the General Society to the Treasurer of the Society in the State of Colorado, towards the expenses incident to the meeting of the General Society at this time.

“Your committee finds that several state societies have failed to meet their annual assessment; that some are in arrears for several years, and respectfully recommends that the General Treasurer be directed to communicate with the treasurers of the respective societies, and request remittances in payment of all moneys due, without delay; that the General Treasurer be directed to report at the next regular meeting those state societies that are delinquent, for such action as the General Society may direct.

“Recognizing that the present method of assessment to meet the expenses of the General Society is not an entirely satisfactory one, and believing that more equitable results would be obtained by the adoption of a different system, your committee also moves the following :

“LL. Resolved: That each state society shall pay annually to the General Treasurer, to defray the expenses of the General Society, twenty-five cents (25 cts.) for each active member of such state society. All such dues shall be paid on or before the first day of April in each year, for the ensuing year, in order to secure representation in meetings of the General Society.

“All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. C. TARKINGTON, THEODORE W. BARHYDT, R. HENRY W. DWIGHT.	}	Committee.
--	---	-------------------

“This is the unanimous report of the committee, and I therefore move its adoption as read.”

The following proceedings were thereupon had :

MR. ROBERT OLYPHANT, of the New York Society : I second the motion.

MR. ASHBEL KING SHEPARD, of the Colorado Society : I would like to inquire what the amount appropriated to each society has been previous to this date, on the occasions of triennial meetings?

THE GENERAL SECRETARY : I will state that it has been various amounts, according to the growth of our Society upwards. At the commencement it was a $100, then $200, then $250, and now it was felt wise to make it $300 ; unless there is some objection.

MR. SHEPARD : I move to amend the resolution, before the Society votes upon it, to make the amount $250 in this case.

THE GENERAL SECRETARY : This objection comes from the State of Colorado, I believe?

MR. SHEPARD : Yes, sir.

MR. ROBERT OLYPHANT, of the New York Society: I seconded the acceptance of that report and the adoption of the resolution. I recognize our friends from Colorado—they are a very bashful lot, and a great deal of humility characterizes their general make-up, but nevertheless, as seconder of that, I shall insist that the motion be put. Of course, the amendment occurs first, but I will not accept the amendment as seconded.

A DELEGATE: The amendment wasn't seconded.

MR. JOHN WRIGHT BARROWS, of the Colorado Society: I second the amendment.

MR. SHEPARD: I insist that the amendment be put.

MR. CHARLES HENRY JONES, of the Pennsylvania Society: If I understand, there are several resolutions; they must be put separately.

THE CHAIR: Gentlemen, the matter stands this way: there are two resolutions in this report, and it is proposed to put the questions of the resolutions in turn, and when the resolutions are adopted or defeated, then the report, as it stands by the action of the meeting, will be put to the general meeting. Now, the first resolution is the following: "That the sum of three hundred dollars be appropriated and paid out of the funds of the General Society to the Treasurer of the Society in the State of Colorado, towards the expenses incident to the meeting of the General Society at this time." To this resolution there has been an amendment offered and seconded by the gentlemen from Colorado, that the sum of $300 be changed to $250, which has been the amount of money formerly appropriated by the Society for such expenses. Now the question will come up on the amendment. Are the gentlemen ready for the question?

DELEGATES: Question! Question!

MR. ALEXANDER R. THOMPSON, of the New York Society: In speaking to the motion, as I understand it, it has been the custom of the General Society to increase this appropriation every year, and I can see no reason why we should not follow our precedents. I expect it will be increased next year, and the year after, and the year after. We are larger; we are stronger; we are richer. While in all respects we would love to do anything in the wide world that our Colorado friends want us, in this I think, and in this only, we should disregard their wishes.

DELEGATES: Question! Question!

THE CHAIR: Gentlemen, you have heard the resolution. Those in favor of the adoption of this amendment will please say "aye;" those opposed to the adoption will say "no." (Vote taken.) The "noes" appear to have it; the "noes" have it, and the amendment is lost. The question now recurs upon the resolution itself. Those in favor of the adoption of the resolution as read will say "aye;" those opposed, "no." (Vote taken.) The "ayes" have it, and the resolution is adopted.

The next resolution: "Recognizing that the present method of assessment to meet the expenses of the General Society is not an entirely satisfactory one, and believing that more equitable results would be obtained by the adoption of a different system, your committee also moves the following: Resolved, that each State society shall pay annually to the General Treasurer, to defray the expenses of the General Society, twenty-five cents (25c.) for each active member of such State society. All such dues shall be paid on or before the first day of April in each year, for the ensuing year, in order to secure representation in meetings of the General Society." Is the meeting ready for that question?

Resolution is seconded by Gen. Henry Cadle, of the Missouri Society.

THE CHAIR: Those in favor of the adoption of this resolution will please say "aye;" those opposed, "no." (Vote taken.) The "ayes" have it, and the resolution is adopted.

The question is now upon the acceptance of the report with the resolutions as adopted. Gentlemen in favor of the adoption of the report of this committee on auditing the accounts of the Treasurer, etc., will say "aye;" those opposed to its adoption say "no." (Vote taken.) The "ayes" have it, and the committee's report is adopted, together with the resolutions which they have presented."

MR. CHARLES HENRY JONES, of the Pennsylvania Society, moved that the next triennial meeting of the General Society be held in the city of Washington, and that the expenses of that meeting be defrayed by the General Society. The motion was seconded by Mr. Robert Olyphant, of the New York Society.

MR. TIMOTHY JONES, of the Connecticut Society: There is the place where all the dirty linen of the Nation is washed, and the "Americans" wash theirs there every year, a terrible lot of it, as you will see by the Sunday number of the New York Sun, March 20th, and we don't want to go to a place to get contaminated, where we will have to make a personal sacrifice of five hundred yoke of oxen to do away with the sins of the people, and for that reason I don't believe that Washington is the right place.

MR. JESSE CLAIBORNE TARKINGTON, of the Indiana Society: I rise for information. Indiana has presented a request that the next convention be held at Indianapolis; has that been presented to the general body?

THE CHAIR: There are invitations from New York and Indiana. I suppose a motion would be in order from any Society to have the meeting of the General Society.

MR. CHARLES HENRY JONES, of the Pennsylvania Society: There is one motion pending now.

COL. JOSIAH GRANVILLE LEACH, of the Pennsylvania Society: I think it is quite important for us to meet in Washington. We organized our Society there, and have not met there since. It will give the Society an opportunity to visit the home of Washington, and will be a very fitting place. I think it might be arranged for us to hold our meeting at Washington's home. We are not a large body; our meeting comes at the season of the year when the City of Washington is especially attractive; it will be at the second session of Congress, at the long session, three years from now, and I know of no more attractive place.

MR. JESSE CLAIBORNE TARKINGTON, of the Indiana Society: I desire to say, on behalf of Indiana, what Mr. Thompson said in the City of New York, on introducing me to some of the members there at Delmonico's: that we are the baby society, and we need the encouragement and assistance of the General Society, and in conjunction with the request of the Society itself in Indiana, we bring to you the request of the Commercial Club, the largest body in that city, composed of the business men of the city, who would take pleasure in assisting in entertaining this association or organization; and I can say to you, so far as the gentleman here from Connecticut is concerned, we have no dirty linen in Indianapolis. We have the most beautiful city, we think, in the United States. It is central, about midway in the United States, so that it will facilitate matters for delegates to get there. It would make fares from all parts of the country almost equal. It presents advantages that no other city in this country does, and I wish you would give Indiana the benefit of this next meeting. I feel that we need it, and need that encouragement. The other societies are quite large and quite strong, because they have been organized many years, but we need the benefit of your association. I feel that we have quite time enough to adopt Washington later on.

MR. JAMES MORTIMER MONTGOMERY, of the New York Society: I would like to state, in reference to this place of next meeting, that there was an invitation in from New York State Society, received last November or December, in advance of the invitation from Indiana, but in view of the urgent invitation we had from Colorado, it was laid aside. They accepted the situation with the understanding that the next meeting would be held in New York, after Denver, but as the question of Washington has come up, I believe the New York people have concluded that it would be better that we should hold it there, and are willing to waive in favor of Washington. I thought I should make that statement.

MR. R. HENRY W. DWIGHT, of the Massachusetts Society: I would like to ask if the expenses, to be provided for by the General Society, are for the entertainment of the members only, or whether travelling expenses also are to be provided?

THE CHAIR: The expenses of the meeting only, not travelling expenses of the delegates.

MR. DWIGHT: I hope the motion of our friends from Indiana will prevail. The city of Indianapolis is centrally located.

THE CHAIR: The Chair would state that the question now is not upon the motion of the gentleman from Indiana, because there could not be two motions at the same time. The question is upon the motion submitted by the gentleman from Pennsylvania, that this meeting be held in Washington City, and of course, when that is disposed of, the question of any other motion in reference to the meeting, if it is made, will come up.

MR. DWIGHT: Are remarks on the benefits of going to Indiana in order?

THE CHAIR: They certainly would be in order.

MR. TARKINGTON: Then I move to substitute in that motion the word "Indianapolis" for "the City of Washington."

THE CHAIR: The City of Washington?

MR. TARKINGTON: Do I understand that the motion pending says that the City of Washington be chosen?

THE CHAIR: Yes.

MR. TARKINGTON: Then I move to substitute the name of the City of Indianapolis in place of the City of Washington.

THE CHAIR: The gentleman from Indiana moves, as an amendment to the motion of the gentleman from Pennsylvania, that the City of Washington be stricken out, and Indianapolis be substituted for the City of Washington.

Seconded by Mr. Henry Hudson, of the Tennessee Society.

MR. ROBERT OLYPHANT, of the New York Society: In view of the fact that the New York Society had their invitation in first, and, of course, would like to have the pleasure of entertaining the General Society in the metropolis of the country, and in view of the fact that a number of us feel that there is a great deal to be said on both sides, Indianapolis and Washington; in view of the fact that we would like to do all we can to favor our friends from Indiana and help them to build up their society, and at the same time some of us feeling that it is so long since we have met in the Capital City, and never especially at the home of Washington, which would be most appropriate, before the vote is taken, the delegation from New York would like to withdraw and discuss the question.

THE CHAIR: You are at liberty to do so.

(The New York delegation withdraws.)

COL. JOSIAH GRANVILLE LEACH, of the Pennsylvania Society: I would like to call attention to this fact: that we have now met twice in the West successively; our last meeting was at Cincinnati, and now we have come as far West as Denver, and it seems to me that we ought to go East this time. We are entitled to go East, and having selected the Capital of the Nation, I think all ought to vote for it.

(After a short interval the New York delegation returns.)

MR. ROBERT OLYPHANT: Mr. President, after consideration, the New York delegation feel that, while they would like to please Indiana, and while they feel that they have a pre-empted right to hold the next meeting in New York City, in view of the early invitation that they extended, they have decided that, take it all in all,—the fact that we have not met in Washington since we were organized, and it will help the General Society more, and the whole Society throughout the country, north and south, east and west, by meeting in the Capital City, and, if possible, in the home of Washington himself,—it certainly would infuse new vigor into the life of all branches of our Society.

THE CHAIR: Is the meeting ready for the question?

MR. RALPH VOORHEES, of the Colorado Society: Mr. President, on behalf of the delegates from Colorado, we heartily favor the selection of Washington, and, in doing so, claim that the best interests of the Society can be subserved by selecting that point. We are further away perhaps from the bulk of the membership in meeting in Denver than any other meeting that we have ever had, I venture, and you have honored us, and will help us in the West towards building up the Society, by meeting at this time at this place; but we realize that, while through our endeavors and the excellent work planned by the officers of this Society this meeting will be abundantly successful, yet in one point it will not be, it has not been, and that is in point of numbers in attendance at this meeting. We are not disappointed in this, because of the distance between the bulk of the delegates, the membership of our Society, and this distant point, and therefore it seems to us, in making the next meeting three years hence, the place should be selected where the greater attendance would be possible. Now that you have honored the West, honored the middle and far West by this selection, it seems to us that the next most appropriate place of the next meeting would be at the City of Washington, and we are in favor of that selection.

DELEGATES: Question! Question!

THE CHAIR: Gentlemen, the question is upon the amendment suggesting the City of Indianapolis in the place of the City of Washington. Those in favor of the amendment please say "aye;" those opposed, "no." (Vote taken.) The "noes" have it, and the amendment is lost.

The question now recurs upon the motion submitted by the gentleman from Pennsylvania. Those in favor of that motion, that Washington be the next place of meeting, will please say "aye;" those opposed to that motion please say "no." (Vote taken.) The "ayes" have it, and the motion is adopted, and Washington is selected as the next place of general meeting of this Society.

GEN. HENRY CADLE, of the Missouri Society: On behalf of the Missouri Society, I desire to offer the following amendment to the Constitution, and in doing so—

DELEGATE: Addition.

GEN. CADLE: The following addition to the Constitution, and in doing so, it seems to me eminently proper that Missouri should offer the same, since she has been insistent upon this change in our system of taxation, in connection with other state societies. We now, in accordance with the vote just taken by the Society, have voted to have a just system of taxation, which we have not had heretofore, and in accordance with the spirit of our forefathers, since we now have the true and just system of taxation, there should also be the same in regard to representation, and, with that in view, we offer the following amendment or addition to the Constitution. The Constitution, as it now stands, provides that the regular meetings of the General Society shall be held every three years, and special meetings may be held upon the order of the General President, or upon the request of two of the State Societies, and such meetings shall consist of the general officers and representation not exceeding five deputies from each State Society, and the necessary expenses of such meeting shall be borne by the State Society. You see, Mr. President, that with this system of representation a society of twenty members has the same representation in our General Society that a society of two thousand members has, which is not right. Therefore, I propose to offer, on behalf of the Missouri Society (and I dare say it will be seconded by other State Societies), the following :

(7th paragraph of the Constitution of the General Society.)

“That such meetings shall consist of two delegates from each State Society, and one additional delegate for every one hundred members or major fraction thereof.” That provides that every State Society, irrespective of numbers, shall be represented by two delegates, and in addition to that they are entitled to one delegate for every hundred members.

DELEGATE : Each delegate to have a vote ?

GEN. CADLE : Yes.

DELEGATE : Instead of voting by States, to vote by delegates ?

MR. CHARLES HENRY JONES, of the Pennsylvania Society : No more voting by States ; each delegate votes.

REV. THOMAS EDWARD GREEN, of the Iowa Society : On behalf of the Iowa Society, I second that motion.

MR. HENRY WALBRIDGE DUDLEY, of the Illinois Society : Illinois desires also to second that motion.

THE CHAIR : Is the meeting ready for the question upon this resolution ? How will the vote be taken ?

MR. HENRY HUDSON, of the Tennessee Society: I rise to inquire whether this vote can be taken now, and be binding upon this Society, without ratification by our State societies?

THE CHAIR: No, sir, it will have to be ratified by the State societies. How shall the vote be taken? What is the preference of the meeting?

MR. JOHN WRIGHT BARROWS, of the Colorado Society: There is one point upon which I would like a little light—the suggestion that each society have two delegates. Does that mean that each society have three delegates, or is it the intention to have the extra delegates where the membership is in excess of one hundred?

MR. CHARLES HENRY JONES, of the Pennsylvania Society: Three delegates to start with.

GEN. CADLE: The idea is that there shall be two delegates and two alternates, and then one delegate for each one hundred members and major fraction thereof.

MR. ROBERT OLYPHANT, of the New York Society: I should understand that to mean that any society that had fifty-one members would be entitled to the three delegates—one extra delegate.

GEN. CADLE: Yes, that is right.

MR. OLYPHANT: And one hundred and fifty-one, two delegates.

GEN. CADLE: That is right.

THE ASSISTANT GENERAL SECRETARY: Are alternates to have a vote?

GEN. CADLE: My understanding is that the alternates are to have a vote when they represent their delegates.

MR. CHARLES HENRY JONES: I move to amend that by providing that, on all questions that may arise at meetings of the General Society, the vote shall be taken by delegates and not by States.

THE CHAIR: As an amendment to this?

MR. JONES: As an amendment to this. I have no doubt that General Cadle will accept that,—that on all questions arising at meetings of the General Society, the vote be taken by delegates, and not by states.

GEN. CADLE: I accept that.

MR. ALEXANDER R. THOMPSON, of the New York Society: Is that to be construed that, in case the whole delegation is not there, the vote will be diminished?

MR. JONES: Yes, certainly. It is vote by delegates in general convention, without reference to states.

MR. ROBERT OLYPHANT: But the delegates have got to be present, no proxy?

MR. JONES: Yes.

MR. GEORGE JAMES HOLMES, of the Connecticut Society: Just a word further. I want to ask if, through some means, we can have a convention at some unheard of place, and a few delegates can be there and do the business, for information, is that what we are open to.

MR. JONES: That is the way, you mean, we are situated out here?

THE CHAIR: The motion is upon the resolution, as amended by the gentleman from Pennsylvania, which has been accepted by the gentleman from Missouri.

REV. THOMAS EDWARD GREEN, of the Iowa Society: It occurs to me that the suggestion from the gentleman from Pennsylvania, in regard to voting, more properly belongs to the by-laws and rules of order than the constitution. The constitution, it seems to me, provides simply who shall be the members of this Society, as representing State Societies, and it seems to me that any rule in regard to methods of voting more properly belongs to either the by-laws or rules of order governing these meetings, than the constitution itself. It seems to me, therefore, that adopting General Cadle's addition to the constitution, which I have had the honor to second on behalf of the Iowa Society, is one thing, and then amending the by-laws and providing a rule for voting is an entirely different thing.

MR. JONES: Nothing can be more fundamental than a rule as to how votes shall be taken in any body. The constitution, therefore, is the proper place for such a provision, and not the by-laws, but, in addition to that, the General Society has no by-laws, and it has always been a construction simply put upon the constitution that the vote was to be taken by states. Now, my amendment, which was adopted by General Cadle, was that, upon all questions arising hereafter in meetings of the General Society, that the vote shall be taken by the delegates there present, and not by states. It seems to me that the constitution, this being a fundamental question, is the proper place for it.

THE CHAIR: The Chair would suggest to the meeting that, of course, the passage of this resolution would come before the State Societies for ratification, and all the merits and demerits of it would be discussed by them, before it can be sent back here, so that this is merely a preliminary action on the part of the General Society. Is the meeting ready for the question?

DELEGATES: Question! Question!

THE CHAIR: The proposed amendment now before the General Society is as follows: Strike out from the seventh paragraph of the Constitution of the General Society the words: "of the General Officers and a representation not exceeding five deputies from each State Society," and insert the following: "of two delegates from each State Society, and one additional delegate for every one hundred (100) members or major fraction thereof, and on all questions arising at meetings of the General Society, each delegate there present shall be entitled to one vote, and no vote shall be taken by States." Those in favor of the resolution as amended will please say "aye"; those opposed "no." (Vote taken.) The "ayes" have it, and the resolution as amended is unanimously adopted.

MR. ALEXANDER R. THOMPSON, of the New York Society: Mr. President, I wish to make the following motion, that the addition to the Constitution, carried unanimously at this meeting, be submitted to the State Societies for ratification, and reported to the next meeting of the General Society.

MR. CHARLES HENRY JONES, of the Pennsylvania Society: I second that motion.

THE CHAIR: Those in favor of this motion say "aye"; those opposed "no." (Vote taken.) The "ayes" have it, and the motion is adopted.

MR. R. HENRY W. DWIGHT, of the Massachusetts Society, introduced the following resolution: "That the General President appoint a committee of three to co-operate in every way possible with the Lafayette Memorial Commission," and stated that this Commission proposes to erect a monument to General Lafayette in Paris on the Fourth of July, during the Paris Exposition, and they expect to have on the occasion the greatest gathering of Americans ever held abroad, and we wish to have the Sons of the Revolution fully represented and to take an active part in it.

MR. JESSE CLAIBORNE TARKINGTON, of the Indiana Society, seconded the resolution, which, being put to the vote, was adopted, and the Chair appointed as such Committee, Mr. Walter Gilman Page, of the Massachusetts Society; Reverend Walter Delafield, of the Illinois Society; Mr. Charles Henry Jones, of the Pennsylvania Society.

By the direction of the Board of Managers of the Society of Sons of the Revolution in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Mr. R. Henry W. Dwight of that Society offered the following:

"It is voted, that our delegates to the Triennial Convention of the General Society of Sons of the Revolution, to be held in Denver, April 19, 1899, be requested to present the following as the sense of the Society in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts:

"Resolved, That in order to bring about a closer bond of union between the several State Societies of the Sons of the Revolution, there shall be published every three years, under the supervision and direction of the General Society, a Register or Year Book, which shall contain the lists of officers of the several societies in the year of publication, with their charter members, the Constitution of the General Society, and under separate headings a résumé of the proceedings of the General Society and the several State Societies, for the time covered by the Register, with especial reference to their patriotic work, such as meetings, awards for prize essays to schools, the erection of tablets and monuments, commemorative services, etc., with such illustrations and printed matter relating thereto as may be deemed advisable, and as may be warranted by the importance of the occasion; together with the printing of such unpublished revolutionary service rolls or public documents of historic interest as may prove serviceable to the various state organizations."

"The favorable consideration of this proposition to go into effect at once, and as soon as practicable the first volume to be issued, covering the period from the institution of each State Society to the present Convention of 1899, and thereafter triennially. The volume to be sold to the members, through their several State Treasurers, the number of volumes printed depending upon the report to the General Treasurer, made by each State Treasurer."

"MOTION: That the General Society is hereby authorized to publish and issue a Triennial Register or Year Book in accordance with the recommendations submitted by the Society in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

The motion was seconded by Mr. Jesse Claiborne Tarkington, of the Indiana Society, and being put to the vote, was adopted.

Mr. Charles Henry Jones, of the Pennsylvania Society, moved that the thanks of the General Society be extended to the Society of the Sons of the Revolution in the State of Colorado for their hospitality which they have so generously extended to its members during their sojourn here.

MR. ROBERT OLYPHANT, of the New York Society: I second that, sir, with all my heart. We have been most hospitably and magnificently entertained.

THE CHAIR: It gives me great pleasure, indeed, to put that motion to the Society, and to ask those in favor of such adoption to say "aye;" those opposed "no." (Vote taken.) The "ayes" have it, and the motion is unanimously adopted.

MR. HENRY HUDSON, of the Tennessee Society, stated that he was directed by that Society to present a resolution providing for annual meetings of the General Society, and he offered the following:

"Resolved, That paragraph 7 of the Constitution be amended by striking out the words "every three years," and inserting the words "every year," thus providing for annual meetings of the General Society of Sons of the Revolution, so as to make it read: "The regular meeting of the Society to be held every year; special meetings may be held on the order of the General President." That is done at the express order of the Society which I represent.

No action was taken, however, upon this motion.

On motion of Mr. R. Henry W. Dwight, of the Massachusetts Society, seconded by the Reverend Walter Delafield, of the Illinois Society, it was resolved that the thanks of the General Society be extended to the Daughters of the Revolution in the State of Colorado, who have given so much assistance in helping the Society in its patriotic work, and for their most generous and hospitable entertainment to the General Society.

On motion, the Society adjourned.

MISSOURI.

The Society has celebrated Washington's Birthday every year since its formation, in 1894, by a formal banquet, in connection with the ceremonies of which occasion is the presentation of gold, silver and bronze medals to the winners in prize essay competitions, which has been eminently successful in that State. Divine service is also held on the Sunday next the twenty-second of February in each year, to which other kindred Associations are invited.

The Society took part in the ceremonies attending the presentation by the Missouri Commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion to the City of St. Louis of three guns taken from the wreck of the British Man of War "Acteon," destroyed at the time of the attack upon Fort Moultrie, June 28th, 1776.

Arrangements were in progress for contributions in aid of the soldiers in the War with Spain, but were discontinued, as the destruction of the Spanish fleet and the capture of Santiago occurred before they could be perfected.

Chapters have been established in Kansas City and St. Joseph City, both of which hold appropriate ceremonies upon the Sunday nearest the twenty-second of February in each year, and upon the anniversaries of the battles of Yorktown and Trenton. The St. Joseph Chapter has also inaugurated an independent prize essay competition, with successful results.

MONTANA.

No matters of special interest reported.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Observance of Revolutionary Anniversaries particularly relating to the State. Restoration of Tomb and Mortuary Tablet of General Whipple, Signer of the Declaration of Independence. This Society has one member who is a son of a Revolutionary Soldier.

NEW JERSEY.

The Society has placed on Nassau Hall at Princeton a tablet commemorative of its seizure by the British for military purposes; its use as a place of meeting by the Continental Congress, and also of the fact that General Washington there received the thanks of the Congress for his services.

Medals have been given as Prizes for the best Essays by children of the public schools on the subject "Washington's Campaigns in New Jersey."

Subscriptions have been made for the support of Washington's Headquarters at Rocky Hill and at Somerville.

NEW YORK.

The following tablets and monuments have been erected:

A bronze tablet at the northwest corner of John and William Streets to commemorate the conflict between British troops and the New York "Sons of Liberty" at Golden Hill, January 18, 1770.

A tablet at the northwest corner of Broad and Beaver Streets in honor of Colonel Marinus Willett, subsequently of the Continental Line, who, on January 23, 1775, at the head of a body of "Sons of Liberty" compelled a detachment of regulars to surrender a quantity of arms seized by them at the Battery.

A tablet at the foot of Laight Street on the North River to mark the spot where Washington landed on his way from Philadelphia to assume command of the American Army at Boston in June, 1775.

A tablet on the south wall of the City Hall to commemorate the reading of the "Declaration of Independence" before the American troops on the parade ground, now the City Hall Park, July 9, 1776.

A tablet on the Washington Building, No. 1 Broadway, to commemorate the destruction of the equestrian statue of King George III, in Bowling Green, on the night of July 9, 1776, by citizens of New York. It also marks the site of the Kennedy House, once occupied by Washington, Putnam, and other generals as their headquarters.

A tablet at the junction of Flatbush Avenue and Fulton Street, Brooklyn, on the line of the American defensive works, to commemorate the Battle of Long Island, fought on August 27, 1776.

A tablet on the west side of Broadway, between Forty-third and Forty-fourth Streets, to mark the site where Washington, Putnam, and other officers met to stem the tide of panic which seized the American soldiers on September 15, 1776, when New York City was abandoned to the enemy.

A tablet to commemorate the battle and victory of "Harlem Heights," September 16, 1776.

A tablet at One hundred and fifty-third Street and the Boulevard in honor of Colonel Knowlton and Major Leitch, who sacrificed their lives at Harlem Heights.

A bronze statue of Captain Nathan Hale, the martyr-spy of the Revolution, in the City Hall Park facing Broadway.

A tablet on the walls of Fraunces' Tavern, on the southwest corner of Broad and Pearl Streets, where Washington bade farewell to his Generals at the close of the War, December, 1783.

A tablet to mark the spring, used by Washington and named by him Cold Spring, at the Town of Cold Spring, in Putnam County, New York.

A monument to General Seth Pomeroy at Peekskill, Westchester County, New York.

A tablet to commemorate the action at Tarrytown on July 15, 1781.

A tablet to mark the site of the Wisner Powder Mill in Orange County, New York, will be unveiled in October, 1899.

At the outbreak of the war with Spain, resolutions of unswerving loyalty and support for the Government ; providing for the display of the Stars and Stripes and the flag of the Society ; and for presentation to each regiment of the State of New York mustered into the service of the United States, and to each detachment of the Naval Reserve of the State of New York serving on any United States Naval Vessel, of a National Ensign and a complete and suitable set of United States Army and Navy flags respectively required in each branch of the service, were passed.

A Committee appointed for the purpose carried into effect these resolutions.

Every year the Society has celebrated the Birthday of General George Washington by a banquet and a church service, and Evacuation Day by a banquet.

A gold medal is awarded every year to the student in the College of the City of New York, for the best essay on a patriotic subject, and gold, silver and bronze medals to the scholars of the High Schools throughout the State for like essays.

Chapters have been established at Albany, Troy, Buffalo, Utica and in Orange County.

Every year three meetings of the Society are held to listen to original papers on historical subjects.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Usual meetings. Presentation of portraits of James Iredell and Alfred Moore, of Revolutionary distinction, and afterward Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, to the Supreme Court of the State.

This Society has one member who is a son of a Revolutionary Soldier.

NORTH DAKOTA.

The Society was organized February 17th, 1897, with nine members. Regular meetings have been held and five new members elected.

OHIO.

Meetings commemorative of Revolutionary events. Monthly meetings. Addresses. Contributions to fund for providing comforts for soldiers in the war with Spain. Prize Essay Competitions. Efforts to unite the Societies of Sons of the Revolution and of Sons of the American Revolution in the State.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Resolutions of loyalty and support to the Government in the War with Spain, and that the flags of the Union and of the Society be displayed daily at headquarters until the declaration of peace. Field Day was celebrated at Valley Forge, with addresses. Prize Medals have been regularly awarded for the best Essays on a subject relating to the War of the Revolution. The Decennial Register of the Society has been published. Services have been held annually to commemorate the anniversary of the beginning of the encampment at Valley Forge. These services are held alternately in the only two remaining churches in Philadelphia of Revolutionary date. Papers on Revolutionary subjects have been read before the Society.

The following tablets and monuments have been erected.

A tablet to mark the site of General Wayne's headquarters in 1778-1779, at Swedes Ford Road near Centreville.

A tablet to mark the site of General Howe's threatened attack of December 6th, 1777, near Fort Mifflin, White Marsh.

A monument to mark the site at Gulph Mill where the Continental Army under General Washington encamped from December 13th to 19th, 1777, before going into winter quarters at Valley Forge.

A monument to mark the site at Queen Lane of the encampment of the Continental Army under General Washington from August 1st to 8th, and from September 12th to 14th, 1777, before and immediately after the battle of Brandywine.

A mural tablet in St. Peter's Church, Philadelphia, to the memory of Captain William Shippen, who was killed at the battle of Princeton, January 3d, 1777.

A tablet to mark the site of the house in Philadelphia occupied by Washington as the Presidential Mansion.

A tablet on Colonial Hall of the Young Ladies Seminary and College for Women at Bethlehem, in memory of the soldiers of the Continental Army who suffered and died in that building, which was used as a military hospital from December, 1776, to April, 1777, and from September, 1777, to April, 1778.

RHODE ISLAND.

CONSTITUTION OF THE GENERAL SOCIETY.

CONSTITUTION
GENERAL SOCIETY OF SONS OF THE REVOLUTION.

It being evident, from a steady decline of a proper celebration of the National holidays of the United States of America, that popular concern in the events and men of the war of the Revolution is gradually declining, and that such lack of interest is attributable, not so much to the lapse of time and the rapidly increasing flood of immigration from foreign countries, as to the neglect, on the part of descendants of Revolutionary heroes, to perform their duty in keeping before the public mind the memory of the services of their ancestors and of the times in which they lived; therefore, the Society of Sons of the Revolution has been instituted to perpetuate the memory of the men who, in the military, naval and civil service of the Colonies and of the Continental Congress, by their acts or counsel, achieved the independence of the country, and to further the proper celebration of the anniversaries of the birthday of Washington, and of prominent events connected with the war of the Revolution; to collect and secure for preservation the rolls, records and other documents relating to that period; to inspire the members of the Society with the patriotic spirit of their forefathers; and to promote the feeling of friendship among them.

The General Society shall be divided into State Societies, which shall meet annually on the day appointed therefor in their respective by-laws, and oftener if found expedient; and at such annual meeting the reasons for the institution of the Society shall be considered, and the best measures for carrying them into effect adopted.

The State Societies, at each annual meeting, shall choose, by a majority of the votes present, a President, a Vice-President, a Secretary, a Registrar, a Treasurer, a Chaplain, and such other officers as may by them respectively be deemed necessary, together with a Board of Managers consisting of these officers and of nine other members, all of whom shall retain their respective positions until their successors are duly chosen.

Each State Society shall cause to be transmitted annually, or oftener, to the other State Societies, a circular letter calling attention to whatever may be thought worthy of observation respecting the welfare of the Society or of the general union of the States, and giving information of the officers chosen for the year; and copies of these letters shall also be transmitted to the General Secretary, to be preserved among the records of the General Society.

The State Societies shall regulate all matters respecting their own affairs, consistent with the general good of the Society; judge of the qualifications of their members or of those proposed for membership, subject, however, to the provisions of this Constitution; and expel any member who, by conduct unbecoming a gentleman or a man of honor, or by an opposition to the interests of the community in general or of the Society in particular, may render himself unworthy to continue in membership.

In order to form funds that may be respectable, each member shall contribute, upon his admission to the Society and annually thereafter, such sums as the by-laws of the respective State Societies may require; but any of such State Societies may provide for the endowment of memberships by the payment of proper sums in capitalization, which sums shall be properly invested as a permanent fund, the income only of which shall be expended.

The regular meeting of the General Society shall be held every three years, and special meetings may be held upon the order of the General President or upon the request of two of the State Societies, and such meetings shall consist of the General Officers and a representation not exceeding five deputies from each State Society, and the necessary expenses of such meeting shall be borne by the State Societies.

(The following amendment to the Constitution was proposed at the meeting of the General Society held in Denver, Colorado, on April 19, 1899, and will be voted on at the next regular meeting:

“Strike out from the seventh paragraph of the Constitution of the General Society the words ‘of the General Officers and a representation not exceeding five deputies from each State Society,’ and insert the following: ‘of two delegates from each State Society and one additional delegate for every one hundred (100) members or major fraction thereof: and on all questions arising at meetings of the General Society each delegate there present shall be entitled to one vote, and no votes shall be taken by States.’”)

At the regular meeting a General President, General Vice-President, General Second Vice-President, Secretary, Assistant Secretary, Treasurer, Assistant Treasurer, Registrar, Historian and Chaplain shall be chosen by a majority of the votes present, to serve until the next regular general meeting, or until their successors are duly chosen.

At each general meeting the circular letters which have been transmitted by the several State Societies shall be considered, and all measures taken which shall conduce to the general welfare of the Society.

The General Society shall have power at any meeting to admit State Societies thereto, and to entertain and determine all questions affecting the qualifications for membership in or the welfare of any State Society as may, by proper memorial, be presented by such State Society for consideration.

Any male person above the age of twenty-one years, of good character, and a descendant of one who, as a military, naval or marine officer, soldier, sailor or marine, in actual service, under the authority of any of the thirteen Colonies or States or of the Continental Congress, and remaining always loyal to such authority, or a descendant of one who signed the Declaration of Independence, or of one who, as a member of the Continental Congress or of the Congress of any of the Colonies or States, or as an official appointed by or under the authority of any such legislative bodies, actually assisted in the establishment of American Independence by services rendered during the war of the Revolution, becoming thereby liable to conviction of treason against the government of Great Britain, but remaining always loyal to the authority of the Colonies or States, shall be eligible to membership in the Society.

The Secretary of each State Society shall transmit to the General Secretary a list of the members thereof, together with the names and official designations of those from whom such members derive claim to membership, and thereafter upon the admission of members in each State Society, the Secretary thereof shall transmit to the General Secretary information respecting such members similar to that herein required.

The Society shall have an insignia, which shall be a badge suspended from a ribbon by a ring of gold; the badge to be elliptical in form, with scaloped edges, one and one-quarter inches in length, and one and one-eighth inches in width; the whole surmounted by a gold eagle, with wings displayed, inverted; on the obverse side a medallion of gold in the centre, elliptical in form, bearing on its face the figure of a soldier in Continental uniform, with musket slung; beneath, the figures 1775; the medallion surrounded by thirteen raised gold stars of five points each upon a border of dark blue enamel. On the reverse side, in the center, a medallion corresponding in form to that on the obverse, and also in gold, bearing on its face the Houdon portrait of Washington in bas-relief, encircled by the legend, "Sons of the Revolution;" beneath, the figures 1883; and upon the reverse of the eagle the number of the badge to be engraved; the medallion to be surrounded by a plain gold border, conforming in dimensions to the obverse; the ribbon shall be dark blue, ribbed and watered, edged with buff, one and one-quarter inches wide, and one and one-half inches in displayed length.

The insignia of the Society shall be worn by the members on all occasions when they assemble as such for any stated purpose or celebration, and may be worn on any occasion of ceremony; it shall be carried conspicuously on the left breast, but members who are or have been officers of the Society may wear the insignia suspended from the ribbon around the neck.

The custodian of the insignia shall be the General Secretary, who shall issue them to members of the Society under such proper rules as may be formulated by the General Society, and he shall keep a register of such issues wherein each insignia issued may be identified by the number thereof.

The seal of the Society shall be one and seven-eighths inches in diameter, and shall consist of the figure of a Minute-man in Continental uniform, standing on a ladder leading to a belfry; in his left hand he holds a musket and an olive branch, whilst his right grasps a bell-rope; above, the cracked Liberty Bell; issuing therefrom a ribbon bearing the motto of the Society, Exegi monumentum aere perennius; across the top of the ladder, on a ribbon, the figures 1776; and on the left of the Minute-man, and also on a ribbon, the figures 1883, the year of the formation of the Society; the whole encircled by a band three-eighths of one inch wide; thereon at the top thirteen stars of five points each; at the bottom the name of the General Society, or of the State Society to which the seal belongs.
